The meeting was called to order at 9:39 a.m.

II. Welcome/Introductions

CQM Staff welcomed everyone and individual introductions were made.

III. Addressing No-Shows in Oral Health Appointment Schedules

Presentation

Staff facilitated a discussion and presented a fact sheet on no-show rates within the HIV, oral health, and general healthcare industry. Research shows that the average no show rate among all specialties within the healthcare industry is 23%. Dentistry typically has the lowest no-show rates when compared to other specialties. Clients who live further from their dental provider and are younger in age tend to have the highest no-show rates. General barriers to showing up include dental anxiety, long office waits, transportation, general mistrust and perceptions of providers having stigma against PLWHA.

Discussion

NSU provider attested, based on his experience with no-shows in Broward County, that the reported 23% industry average of no-show's is accurate. As a service category, Oral Health has the highest viral suppression rate and lowest no show rate compared to other categories. Additionally, he also observes young adults as a difficult group to retain in care, exhibiting high no-show rates. He emphasized that among the RW dental network, there is very little stigma toward HIV patients, since PLWHA are the focus population for these providers. Many of their clients have underlying mental health issues, which is usually the primary reason why they don't show. Additionally, he does not believe appointment wait times are an issue for oral health and also stated that many of the barriers presented exist more in a private dental office, and not as much in a public health/Ryan White setting. It is also important to note that compared to a private practice office, there is no financial penalty for a no-show in a Ryan White clinic. AHF provider stated that after 3 missed appointments, she asks clients to write a letter explaining why they want to return. The Provider explained that this technique has proven to be a deterrent of future missed appointments.

No-Show Definitions

The NSU provider defined a "failed appointment" or "no show" as someone who does not show up to their appointment after they have confirmed. "Reschedule" is defined as clients that call and reschedule. "Cancel" are patients that call, cancel, and don't reschedule. "Multiple no shows" are clients that consistently miss appointments.

Barriers

Network members stated that patient anxiety has been a historical issue within dental practice, but building patient rapport, implementing new technology and painless treatment procedures have alleviated this issue greatly.

Progression of HIV disease can impact overall health and memory. Many patients report being sick or forgetfulness.

Transportation is a persistent barrier. NSU provider informed the group about several EMA's providing Uber and Lyft credit (Uber Health and Lyft Health) as a viable solution to the transportation barrier.

Young adults don't answer their phone, only respond to text or emails. FLDOH member stated that they have implemented a text/email reminder service two months ago and their no show rates have decreased slightly. They do not know for sure if the no-show improvement is due to the implementation of the new reminder service. The reminder text is generic and simply says you have an upcoming appointment and there is some confusion among clients about what type of appointment they are being contacted about. NSU provider noted that implementing this technology is costly, and many RW providers don't have the resources. Additionally, focus groups facilitated by NSU show that young adults do not prefer using their phone to maintain appointments. BCFHC provider stated that they provide text and robo-call reminders and will report to the network at the next meeting if this technology has improved their no-show rates.

Recipient staff stated that the reason we are discussing no shows is because we want to identify what the profile of no-show clients are—are they the same clients that are not keeping appointments across every service category? Are they virally suppressed? Are they the same clients that are not achieving their health outcomes across the continuum?

No-Show Tracking

Grantee staff asked the group if they are tracking the reason for no-shows.

Network responded that they do track why the patient has not kept their appointments by recording the reason why they no-showed. NSU calls within an hour of a failed appointment to investigate the reason as to why they no-showed.

Staff will email network a template with criteria to track no shows, the reasons for their no show, and which of those clients are virally suppressed. This will provide members almost three months, until the next Oral Health network meeting, to track data.

IV. Open Discussion

DentaQuest

Prior to the Nova presentation, there was a discussion of DentaQuest's randomized assignment of patients based on where the client lives. Primary care dentists have to get referrals approved within DentaQuest via patient approval forms. A provider from AHF noted that the agency does not use DentaQuest, therefore normal approval methodology will continue as normal for this specific agency. It was noted by the Recipient that this does not have a direct impact on Ryan White Services considering that clients must utilize their Medicaid benefits first. Patients who visit private practices and utilize the capacity of DentaQuest services are then moved to Ryan White Agencies for services.

NSU recommended two helpful dental apps to the network. HIV iCHART and HIVDENT.

Fee Schedule & Sweeps

The Recipient raised the topic of the upcoming Sweeps process. It was noted that, currently, every service category is trending towards spending all funding prior to the end of the fiscal year. He then asked for provider feedback in how the EMA can suppress costs going forward. The Recipient explained that his proposal is to reduce the fee-schedule. A provider contended that the program must reassess the scope of care that clients receive (i.e. what could be considered to be a necessity vs. health care luxuries). The Recipient remarked that before the program makes any other cost-saving interventions, it is a priority to formulate the most responsible and cost-conscious fee-schedule for Oral Health. Additionally, since the fee schedule for specialty care generally covers what is not covered through the formerly more restrictive Medicaid services, current codes for specialty care will be adjusted to reflect new changes in Medicaid coverage. The Recipient mentioned that the providers will be receiving a set of codes for providers to evaluate for cost-effectiveness. A provider stressed the procedures that involve costs that cannot be controlled are closely monitored because this factor makes it difficult for providers to cover their costs. Additionally, a provider pitched the creation of an oral health brochure that explains the Ryan White dental benefits and services. The group agreed that they would come prepared with ideas and concepts for the brochure at the April meeting.

V. Case Study Overview: Nova Southeastern University Dental

The Nova presenter began the case study with an overview of South Florida's epidemiological trends of new HIV diagnoses and general demographic trends associated with the virus. This was followed with a synopsis of a client suffering from an oral HPV outbreak. He described the contagious nature of treating a patient with oral HPV-induced lesions. It was emphasized that this is a case where the client would not be denied care, however routine dental care would be postponed. Emergency care, in this situation, would be applied. This discussion served to show the importance of oral health as a means of linkage and surveillance of clients' health outcomes across the care continuum. This was emphasized by the correlation between oropharyngeal cancer and tonsillar HPV infection and how utilization of oral health services can detect symptoms that could cascade into a more detrimental condition.

It was noted that there has been a perceived decrease in HPV incidence among oral health provider agencies. There was a discussion about cultural competencies and challenges with specific demographic groups. Additionally, HPV and other non-HIV STIs are at risk of transmission due to potentially increased instances of unprotected sex of those who adhere to pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP).

VI. Adjournment

The meeting was adjourned at 11:35 a.m.

- The document consists of two worksheets labeled “Client No-Show Tracking” and “Appointments Scheduled” respectively. Users can switch between the worksheets using the tabs on the bottom-left corner.
 - The Client No-Show Tracking worksheet is intended to characterize each no-show case and accentuate clients who may be chronically disposed to forgo scheduled appointments.
 - The Appointments Scheduled Worksheet is used to obtain a system-level analysis on the Ryan White Part A client trends for no-show rates within the service category.
- The tracking period will begin on March 1st, 2019 (the beginning of the fiscal year for 2019-2020)
 - Please do not fill in cells designated for dates before March 1, 2019 or After February 29, 2020.
- Never cut and paste data within the spreadsheet; only use copy and paste functions if needed.
